Yes		6/26/2020	Very negative	The encounter was at my mothers home and the police came to our barbecue as they frequently do. Things quickly escalated from investigating a noise complaint to harassment. We lowered the music and the proceeded to return and perform the street a couple of houses up. On officer came on to the porch, providing no specific reason and proceeded to try and enter w house after repeated being told that her did not have permissions to enter the home and to please leave the property. He said he did not need permission and only release his demeanor after being told he would be report for harassment if he didn't leave. He threatened to give a summons for the noise but eventually left the property (but stayed on the street.)	No									In general the culture of intimidation and harassment of residents need to stop. While I've dealt with many reasonable officers I've also dealt this just so many officers who use bullying and intimidation to manipulate civilians to comply with what ever the demand are, the even if the citizen has done nothing wrong.	So intimidating the residents, stop harassment the residents(especially young black men- not a cliche, we witness many be unnecessary arrest and mistreated), eliminate the arrogant tone that many officers use when dealing with residents	26 - 40 years old	Female	Prefer not to say	Yes	10802

1/27/2020 9:28:42	Very satisfied	These are the "likes". Their accessibility, their competence and sensitivity when dealing with the public, and their prompt addressing of concerns of town residents.	No changes needed	You have assumed practices that are not in evidence, some of which are not just insulting to the police force in our community, but or categorically untrue. Instead of looking to the local police for problems in the minority communities here, I suggest you look to funding a committee of social workers and other qualified individuals to get directly involved with families in the community to empower them to achieve through emphasing education and upward mobility in their families.	Yes		3/1/2019	Very Positive	The police were very helpful in protecting and assisting in a community based examination of a dangerous area in town where a pedestrian had been killed. They were also happy to answer questions and concerns addressed to them. And, by the way, I recognized a wonderful African American officer (Officer Hall) whom I had spoken with previously who had left a very favorable impression on me in his handling of a prior community event. He actually remembered me, and couldn't have been more professional or pleasant. I frankly didn't notice how many of my fellow neighbors who were present were white, black or brown, or how many males, females or transgenders were present. And as I have not examined their DNA, I frankly would have no idea what some of them were to begin with. Your need to insert race into each and every question to create issues which don't exist would be laughable if it weren't so insulting to us all.	No										Here it is: plain and simple: our police force is the one entity that keeps us safe and protects us from everything from criminal activity to incidents involving dangerous roadway conditions. If you are looking for "systemic racism" here--a term of art that appears to mean whatever you want it to--I can only conclude that your agenda is such that you are out to substitute your judgement for that of law enforcement professionals, and you have really shown your cards with your incredibly biased questions. If you seriously think that "systemic racism" exists in our police department, then you are either blind, in denial, or looking for a scapegoat for the ills that have plagued certain communities for decades. The solution is NOT reforming our police force, but reforming the problem where it begins: in the home. You want to do something REALLY valuable for this town? Take some of the funding already in place and do not ask one more dime from the struggling taxpayers here--and direct it to effective domestic education. If you were brought up, let's say, by an unwed teenager or an elderly grandparent, you are already compromised. However, by educating families about the value of education itself and the way to upward mobility, you change this cycle. And before you dismiss my observations as that of one of our affluent clueless members of the community, I'll have you know that I started life in one of the worst housing projects in the entire metropolitan area. Education and a vision of a better life saved me. So perhaps your group should be looking instead into ways to EMPOWER communities, rather than ways to emasculate our dedicated police force, who risk their lives every day for us all.	Perhaps more emphasis on traffic enforcement, as we has a rash of drag racers and speeders who pose a constant danger to our community.	Prefer not to answer	Female	Prefer not to say	Yes	1056

I was extremely pregnant at the time and so i asked the officer how to proceed and he was EXTREMELY RUDE AND DISMISSIVE and literally said "i don't know" and proceeded to watch videos on his cellphone. I pay taxes and thus officers should be an example and focus on building community relations as opposed to acting as though civilians are interrupting their "free time" when they are on the clock. As a result, I had to wait in the cold for over an hour and until he felt like moving his car along with the other officers who were taking up about 20 parking spaces for an incident that was 2 buildings down.	No												Hire more people of color. Promote people of color to roles of leadership. Engage all officers with diversity training. Male, 40s, white, early afternoon	No									Based on an incident from years before, I won't let my husband or son answer the door when police knock as they are both Latinos and I'm white. I've heard similar sentiments from neighbors and friends in Greenburgh. It is/has been at marches and protests and City events that I don't feel approachable. They act annoyed when you ask a question, and are not friendly.	Im not the expert - seems like a good question for them but there's a place to start: Recognize the importance and need of improvement in diversifying personnel (behind desks and in the field) and improving community relations. Maybe ask people why they want to be cops - if it's for power or ego (or a similar underlying reason) then that's not the right reason.	26 - 40 years old	Female	White or Caucasian	Yes	1060	Juliacherie@gmail.com

No												They are usually very approachable and treat others with respect. I'm a person of color (brown not black), and have never been treated with anything less than respect by GPD.	I think they do a great job in policing in my opinion. Crime prevention, specifically Vehicles related crimes ranging from car theft and break-ins to speeding and moving violations appear to be the biggest complaint that most people have.	41 - 60 years old	Male	Asian	Yes	10583	Elton Sebastian, 11 Kaeteskill Pl, Scarsdale, NY 10583, (516)-637-2872

No													I have a generally positive view of our police department. A small thing, but I once went to the police building near Christmas time and it was filled with Christmas decorations. 1/23/2020 22:21:37	Very satisfied	The officers that I have been in contact with or otherwise observed during the many years that I have resided in Greenburgh demonstrated a high level of professionalism in the performance of their duties.	No changes needed	In order for one to be in a position to answer this question without wildly speculating, we would need to see the data for these specific factors.	Yes			Very Positive	If we are seeking equality among all people regardless of race, gender, age, etc. why do we always resort to categorizing people into these groups. Suffice to say that over the many years of having contact with members of the police department, I personally found these encounters to be positive.	No										The role of police officers clearly is to maintain law and order by protecting members of the public and their property, preventing crime, responding to emergencies and improving the quality of life for all citizens. If there are bad officers, then weed them out. Continue to provide and enhance training to improve their skills in all areas including interacting with the public they serve. What we don't want to do is jump on the false narrative that in order to improve community relations/policing that we should defund or reduce the police department's budget which would result in less officers. Less officers handling the same caseload results in more stress on existing officers which can lead to mistakes.	If Supervisor Paul Feiner would recognize more often in his "global blasts" positive stories of the officers performing what remains a very dangerous job despite the relative safety of our town as compared to other towns and cities in the NY Metropolitan Area. , it would go a long way in improving how the community perceives the police officers. He toots his accomplishments often and occasionally those of various town department personnel, but other than one story that I can recall of Emergency Service Personnel saving two opioid overdosed individuals at the same location with Narcanm, there is absent any recognition of the jobs that these civil servants perform.	61 or older	Again, this question I find to be divisive	Prefer not to say	Yes	1053	SG

1/24/2020 8:57:07	Very satisfied	I've had several encounters with the police department over domestic violence and dealing with my mentally ill daughter. In all cases the police who came and they were many were gentle kind understanding patient not just with me but with my boyfriend and my daughter who were involved in a situation. As difficult as they were I felt they did their best to treat us all with respect and not take sides. That was the big one. They did not take sides. They did not assume that I was right Because I had made the car for them. They help me to calm down. They helped the other person to calm down. They separated us and took a lot, a lot of time to try to resolve the situation for both of us. And of course it was difficult. It was painful. We were both full I have so much anguish and emotion. Separating us and calming us down and taking so much time with us without prejudice as to who is right and who was wrong. I think it made all the difference in the world. The only thing I wish is that they could have come in unmarked cars because although the lights were not on and neither are the sirens there were still three parts police cars outside my home it's all my neighbors side and that was so embarrassing. 1/26/2020 10:49:52	Very satisfied	I've had several encounters with the police department over domestic violence and dealing with my mentally ill daughter. In all cases the police who came and they were many were gentle kind understanding patient not just with me but with my boyfriend and my daughter who were involved in a situation. As difficult as they were I felt they did their best to treat us all with respect and not take sides. That was the big one. They did not take sides. They did not assume that I was right Because I had made the car for them. They help me to calm down. They helped the other person to calm down. They separated us and took a lot. a lot of time to try to resolve the situation for both of us. And of course it was difficult. It was painful. We were both full I have so much anguish and emotion. Separating us and calming us down and taking so much time with us without prejudice as to who is right and who was wrong. I think it made all the difference in the world. The only thing I wish is that they could have come in unmarked cars because although the lights were not on and neither are the sirens there were still three parts police cars outside my home it's all my neighbors side and that was so embarrassing. I feel so thankful that I live in a community where the police have been trained so well that all the funding maybe now redirected to the crisis. 1/28/2020 17:15:04	Don't know/No answer	I do not like when police run the engine of parked police cars - it is unnecessary pollution and pollution often hurts black and brown people more because they are subject to more of it through their lifetimes. Yes		7/2/2016	Very negative	The Greenburgh police was called by me because I was attacked on Greenburgh housing property when I was on the board of commissioner of the housing authority. I informed the police that I was attacked and they told me to work it out with the person. I had to go to the federal Building in White Plains to make a complaint and they made the police department take a statement and arrested the person who attacked me.	No													When the police department come to Fairview community they don't have no respect. They call with the commander truck and guns out not thinking about that they might be Trauma children and youth. And they don't do that in other communities.	61 or older	Male	Prefer not to say	Yes	10603	Clifton Abrams abramscliffton@gmail.com
